We'll Never Be Apart is quite the debut novel. From the very first words on the very first page, it had me hooked and even after finishing it, I'm not sure if it has quite let go of me yet. I'm still thinking about what a mad (pun

~~We'll Never Be Apart by Emiko Jean — Goodreads~~

WE'LL NEVER BE APART is told from Alice's first person POV, her journal. Cellie has a chapter and the beginning and end of the story. From the beginning, Alice presents herself as the "good twin", the strong one, the problem solver. She sees Cellie as more disturbed, more controlling, damaged and mean... The "bad twin."

1. We'll Never Be Apart, by Emiko Jean: I really, really enjoyed this book. It was very cheesy, but I couldn't help loving it. One review I read by a particularly tough critic on Goodreads said that there was little to no character development and the entire plot relied on a twist that many readers have seen before.

"Engaging and twisted, Emiko Jean's WE'LL NEVER BE APART will draw you in and leave you reeling. An intimate study of damaged people, the pain they're in, and the havoc they wreak." – Kendare Blake, author of Anna Dressed in Blood "I love a wild psychological ride—and Emiko Jean elevates the genre with this taut, provocative thriller.
